EVERGREEN ENGINEERING OPENS OFFICE IN NEW YORK'S TECH VALLEY

(ALBANY, NY) May 22, 2007 – Headquartered in Eugene, Oregon, Evergreen Engineering (Evergreen) has expanded its engineering and construction services into New York's Tech Valley. Its office space is located at 401 New Karner Road, Brandon Place, Albany, NY 12205.

"It has been our goal to establish a strong presence in this area," stated Clem Wood, Principal at Evergreen Engineering. "We look forward to supporting our clients and continuing to build relationships with key players within our core industries."

The Albany office manager is Emery Otruba, P.E. who lives locally in Albany. Wood is the managing principal.

Evergreen has nationwide offices located in Eugene, OR; Hillsboro, OR; Atlanta, GA; Santa Clara, CA; Boise, ID; and Albany, NY. With clients throughout the United States and Canada, Evergreen currently employs over 100 full-time workers, comprised of principals, professional engineers, construction managers, designers, drafters, and administrative personnel – 85% hold college degrees, 10% hold advanced degrees. The firm anticipates its growth pattern to continue throughout 2007.

Established in 1985, Evergreen Engineering is an engineering and construction firm serving various industries such as bioscience, clean manufacturing, high-tech and wood products. Evergreen services include full discipline engineering, construction management, programming, project management, code consulting and owner representative. Evergreen has a reputation of listening to clients' objectives and being able to do projects other firms consider too difficult or impossible.
